

Two Regimes (A Memoir)

by Teodora Verbitskaya as translated by her granddaughter, Lucianne Vanilar

About Two Regimes

Two Regimes is a salvaged collection almost lost to history. It is the life's work of two Ukrainian women: a mother, Teodora Verbitskaya (1900-1994, author) and her daughter, Nadia Werbitsky (1922-2005, artist). Teodora wrote about her family's life from 1927 to 1945 while living in Mariupol, Soviet Ukraine under the two regimes of Stalin and Hitler. Daughter Nadia who painted from memory with works created decades apart from her mother's writings, provides an intergenerational experience. Mother and daughter were survivors and witnesses of two genocides: the Holodomor-Ukrainian genocide (man-made Famine 1932-33 under Stalin) and the Holocaust (1933-1945 under Hitler).

This book contains:

- ◇ 190 pages (Print version) (164 pages in eBook)
- ◇ 51 full color paintings by the artist Nadia Werbitsky (1922-2005), the daughter of the author and the mother of the translator
- ◇ 27 historical photographs
- ◇ 4 maps, with one map showing all the Gulag locations
- ◇ 101 in-depth footnotes
- ◇ Foreword by Rutgers Professor Alexander Motyl
- ◇ Story vetted by professors with the Zaporizhzhia National University through the Mariupol archives and the KGB archives in Ukraine.
- ◇ Holodomor Quotes by Jars Balan and Marta Baziuk
- ◇ Holocaust Quotes by Dr. Michael Berenbaum and Dr. Miriam Klein Kassenoff
- ◇ Five generations of one family were involved with, and contributed to, this book

Physical book and eBook will both include an audio file narrated by Luci, her family and friends!

Published by Kendall-Hunt Publishing Company. To Order: https://he.kendallhunt.com/two\_regimes

www.TwoRegimes.com